Arkansas State University-Mountain Home (ASUMH) was established on July 1, 1995 due to the commitment of the residents of Baxter County and the cooperation of the Department of Higher Education and Arkansas State University in Jonesboro.

ASUMH has an open door admissions policy. This policy is designed to enhance access to educational opportunities. Standards of quality are maintained and students are required to remove deficiencies before entering certain programs or courses.

Nestled in the beautiful Ozark Mountains, 156 miles north of Little Rock, the environment at ASUMH encourages free expression, leadership and innovation. Small class size means personal attention and support from instructors. Additionally, the construction of a new campus accommodating 1,200 students offers an even more appealing setting for students to pursue higher education.

Arkansas State University Mid-South

Dr. Debra West, Chancellor since 2015

Arkansas State University Mid-South Mission Statement:

The mission of Arkansas State University Mid-South is to enrich lives through high quality educational programming that fosters student success, workforce development, and lifelong learning.

HISTORY

Arkansas State University Mid-South is a public two-year institution serving Crittenden County, Arkansas.

In early 1979, the Arkansas Legislature approved the establishment of Mid-South Vocational Technical School, and the institution selected a 30-acre tract on U.S. Highway 70, just off Airport Road, for construction of the initial facilities.

In 1991, the Arkansas Legislature passed Act 1244, known as the "Two-Year Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act". The legislation focused on converting or upgrading the state's vocational-technical schools into technical colleges or branches of four-year institutions.

Lawmakers selected Mid-South Vocational Technical School for conversion, and upon transfer from the State Board of Education to the State Board of Higher Education on July 1, 1991, the institution became Mid-South Technical College. The governor appointed a seven-member board of trustees who, one year later, determined the community and institution would be best served by converting to a community college. After a campaign to secure the invaluable support of the citizens of Crittenden County, the school moved forward as Mid-South Community College in 1992.

On January 9th, 2015, the Board of Trustees of Mid-South voted unanimously to join the Arkansas State University System in order to expand opportunities for residents of Crittenden County and ensure long-term sustainability for the college. The change became effective July 1, 2015.

ASU Mid-South has enjoyed phenomenal growth and local support. Named one of the Great Colleges to Work For in 2017, 2018, and 2020 by the Chronicle of Higher Education and one of the National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development's Most Promising Places to Work in 2019, and recognizing exceptional commitment to diversity, ASU Mid-South maintains a welcoming and secure environment for both students and staff.

PROGRAMS OF STUDY

ASU Mid-South remains committed to the future of Crittenden County. Located on approximately 84 acres at the intersection of Broadway Street and College Boulevard in West Memphis, the institution remains aggressive and determined in its efforts to meet the current and future employment needs of the region so that students will be prepared for the jobs of today and tomorrow.

Today the college offers for-credit academic and career-technical education, non-credit workforce training, Adult Education/Literacy/ESL, and community education courses including the Associate of Arts degree; Associate of Science, Associate of Applied Science degrees, and a range of Technical Certificates and Certificates of Proficiency. Current programs include: Allied Health (EMT, Nursing Assisting, Medical Assisting, Phlebotomy, and Respiratory Technology); Business; Transportation (Aviation Maintenance, Diesel Technology); Digital Media; Hospitality; Information Technology; Advanced Manufacturing (Machining, Mechatronics, Welding); and Teaching (K-6, 4-8).

In addition to education and training for adult students, ASU Mid-South provides opportunities for high school students to earn concurrent credit, degrees, and certificates in both academic and technical programs of study while still enrolled in high school.

The award-winning Arkansas Delta Training and Education Consortium (ADTEC), established in 2005, allows the college to establish broader connections throughout the region, leveraging the resources of the five community colleges in the Delta region in order to better serve and respond to the economic development needs in Eastern Arkansas.

Thanks in part to funding provided by the State of Arkansas to ADTEC, local students have the option to enroll in baccalaureate and master's degree programs on the Mid-South campus through University Center partnerships with Arkansas State University, the University of Central Arkansas, and the University of Arkansas at Fort Smith. This unique arrangement provides pathways to careers for students for whom time and transportation constraints might be a barrier to furthering their education.

ACCREDITATION

ASU Mid-South is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission. ASU Mid-South's Nursing Assistant Program is certified by the Arkansas Department of Human Services Division of Medical Services Office of Long-Term Care. The Emergency Medical Assistant Program is certified by the Arkansas Department of Health Section of Emergency Medical Services. The Respiratory Care program is accredited by the Commission on Accreditation for Respiratory Care. The Aviation Maintenance Technology program is certified by the Federal Aviation Administration.

Arkansas State University Three Rivers

Dr. Steve Rook, Chancellor since 2016

Arkansas State University Three Rivers Mission Statement:

Arkansas State University Three Rivers is a public, two-year institution of higher education that continually identifies and addresses the changing learning needs of the communities it serves

HISTORY

The College began as Ouachita Vocational Technical School (OVTS) as authorized by the State Board of Education in July 1969 to serve the vocational training needs of a five-county area surrounding Malvern and Hot Spring County. In 1985, OVTS was designated as a high school vocational center as the state attempted to make vocational education accessible to all Arkansas high school students. In 1988, the Arkansas Business Council Foundation recommended transferring postsecondary vocational programs from the State Board of Education to the State Board of Higher Education, expansion of general education programs in vo-tech schools, technical workforce training, and converting existing vo-tech schools into colleges along with support and funding.

The 1991 Arkansas Legislature responded to the recommendations with Act 1244, Two-Year Postsecondary Education Reorganization Act of 1991. OVTS was not in the original legislation; but, at the urging of local business leaders and educators, Senator George Hopkins introduced separate legislation to redesignate OVTS as Ouachita Technical College. The legislation (Act 617 of 1991) was signed into law prior to Act 1244, making Ouachita Technical College Arkansas' first technical college. The College received initial accreditation in 1996 and has continuing accreditation with the Higher Learning Commission.

The Board of Trustees approved a name change in 2010 to communicate the College's broad mission of higher education and service. In July 2011, the name of the College was officially changed to College of the Ouachitas. In February 2019, the college signed a merger agreement with Arkansas State University System, and announced a new name for the institution in September 2019. On January 1, 2020, College of the Ouachitas became Arkansas State University Three Rivers.

Henderson State University

Dr. Jim B. Borsig, Interim Chancellor since 2020

Henderson State University Mission Statement:

Henderson provides a learning environment that prepares students for a lifetime of intellectual and personal growth in a global society. We bridge students' academic aspirations to career success by integrating professional studies and the liberal arts.

HISTORY

Of the nine Arkansas public universities, Henderson is one of only two originally established as a four-year, degree-conferring institution and is the second oldest state university. The university has operated for more than a century under six names: Arkadelphia Methodist College (1890-1904), Henderson College (1904-1911), Henderson-Brown College (1911-1929), Henderson State Teachers College (1929-1967), Henderson State College (1967-1975) and Henderson State University (1975-).

The institution was founded on March 24, 1890 as a four-year, coeducational baccalaureate liberal arts college. The college opened on September 3, 1890, with 110 students and 10 faculty members. The name was changed to Henderson College in 1904 to honor Charles Christopher Henderson, a trustee and prominent local businessman. In 1911, the name was amended to Henderson-Brown College to honor Walter William Brown, who was also a trustee. From its founding in 1890 until 1925, the college also operated an academy, which provided instruction for students desiring high school courses and for those not prepared to enter the collegiate curriculum.

Henderson was a sister institution of Hendrix College. In 1929, the educational commission of the Arkansas Methodist Conferences proposed that the two colleges merge in Little Rock. However, through the efforts of Arkadelphia citizens and religious and political leaders of south Arkansas, the institution, then known as Henderson-Brown College, was offered to the State of Arkansas. The Arkansas General Assembly enacted legislation (Act 46) to "establish a standard Teachers College in Arkadelphia," and Henderson became a state university. Henderson State University joined the Arkansas State University System in 2021.

PROGRAMS OF STUDY

Henderson State University offers associate's and bachelor's degrees in areas ranging from the arts and sciences to business, education, nursing and aviation. Graduate degrees include Master of Arts in Teaching, Master of Business Administration, Master of Liberal Arts, Master of Science in Clinical Mental Health Counseling, Developmental Therapy and Sport Administration, Master of Science in Education, Master of Science in Nursing, and Educational Specialist.

ACCREDITATION

Henderson State University is accredited by the Higher Learning Commission. Institutional Classifications

Southern Regional Education Board (SREB) Institutional Categories & Carnegie Classifications

SREB CLASSIFICATIONS*

The SREB system for categorizing postsecondary education institutions is based upon a number of factors relevant to determining resource requirements. Institutions are classified based on size (numbers of degrees or full-time-equivalent enrollment), role (types of degrees), breadth of program offerings (number of program areas in which degrees are granted), and comprehensiveness (distribution of degrees across program areas).

Institutions are assigned to categories for a report year using the previous academic year's data on program completions. To keep the statistical comparison groups relatively stable over time and to assure that institutions change categories only when their measures on a criterion are relatively stable, institutions change categories when they meet the criterion for another category for the third consecutive year.

♦ Four-Year 3: Institutions awarding at least 100 master's, education specialist, post-master's, or doctoral degrees with master's, education specialist, and post-master's degrees distributed among at least 10 CIP categories (2-digit classification). (Arkansas State University)

♦ Two-Year 2: Institutions awarding associate's degrees and offering college transfer courses with FTE enrollment of 2,000 to 4,999; some certificates and diplomas also may be awarded. (Arkansas State University-Beebe)
