ASU System – Dr. Charles Welch, President

We are having our first Board of Trustees meeting following the addition of our newest campus, Arkansas State University Mid-South, formerly known as Mid-South Community College. Our new chancellor is Dr. Debra West. She’s doing a tremendous job already, and we’re very excited to have her, so please welcome her. She also has several members of her staff with her. Welcome to all our new family members from ASU Mid-South.

Obviously, it’s quite a transition when you have a merger such as this, in that the Board of Trustees of Mid-South Community College no longer stands. That Board of Trustees will become the inaugural Board of Visitors and will play a very important role in terms of advising this Board and me from the local level. One of the members of the Board of Visitors is here today, Hershel Owens and his wife, Theresa. This process was about as seamless as could be. I think we were all on the same page, and I think this is going to be a wonderful relationship.

As you all know, Dr. McKay is retiring after 49½ years of service to ASU-Beebe, 21 of those as Chancellor. We have officially kicked off the search for his replacement. I have appointed a search committee that is representative of faculty, staff, students, and community members. We look forward to that process and having someone in place prior to January when Dr. McKay will retire.

Enrollment, obviously, is something that is on everyone’s mind this time of year. Certainly, we’ve been analyzing the enrollment at all of our campuses, and on the whole, I am very pleased with where we are. Our enrollment system-wide is 23,410. That is a 1½ percent increase over one year ago, which I think is very good. We expect the overall university average increase in the state to be about 1.6 percent. And we expect the two-year college enrollment to actually decrease by about 5.4 percent. That’s really not abnormal. As the economy gets better, typically enrollments do decline at our two-year institutions. Every one of our campuses did very well and I’m very pleased overall.

There’s been a lot of discussion about online learning and the importance of making sure that we are as accessible as possible to students in Arkansas and beyond our borders who want to attend institutions. System-wide, we had 5,656 students enrolled online, which is a 15.3 percent increase over just one year ago. And that doesn’t even include the updated numbers from Mid-South. ASUJ, obviously, is one of the very first, if not the very first university, in the state to engage in online education. We are very pleased with the results and it shows that our campuses are working hard to attract students to our institutions in the manner that is most convenient to them.

Finally, I will make a few comments regarding a presentation that Governor Hutchinson gave to the presidents and chancellors of Arkansas’s two-year and four-year public higher-education institutions, and some friends from our private institutions, with his plans moving forward with higher education. The governor has asked that we do a Master Planning Process to strategically know where we are going. This is something we’ve been working on within our System, as well. The piece that the governor wants to look at is how we can increase completion and graduation rates in our state by 10 percent. We have not detailed an exact timeline on that yet.

He also wants us to focus on increased enrollment and completion of both underserved and non-traditional populations, which is very important to a state such as Arkansas. The governor said some positive things about concurrent enrollment. I think he understands the importance of getting the students college credit as early as possible in hopes of motivating them to ultimately receive a college degree. Certainly, he echoed the continuing sentiments about the importance of workforce education, and that’s something that we will continue to focus on. And affordability is something we’re all very concerned about. He talked a great deal about time-to-degree completion, and how we can shorten the amount of time it takes to earn a degree. There will be some things coming out from our campuses that we are working on to that point. Also, he spoke about more need-based scholarships at the state level, as there have been very few scholarship opportunities on a need-based level in Arkansas. He also discussed a new funding formula that would be focused on performance funding and on how well you do, but also recognizing that you’ve got to have a certain base amount of money to be able to deal with students on the front end. We’re very appreciative of that.

Governor Hutchinson also talked about incentive funding and innovation funding, to reward those institutions that are being innovative. I have quoted Chancellor Hudson when he’s in the room and taken credit for this quote when he’s not in the room. He said, “We’re not going to save and cut our way out of this. We’re going to have to innovate our way out of this.” For the governor to recognize that and want to incentivize that is great. On the whole, certainly, I think there is a lot of work to be done. There are a lot of details to be put into place, but I believe very firmly that Governor Hutchinson’s ideas and plans are good ones and ones that can be very beneficial, not only to our System but to the state of Arkansas as a whole. We will look forward to working with him and working with the Department of Higher Education over the coming weeks to put that together. I’m optimistic about what that could mean in terms of changing the conversation about higher education and assisting us as we communicate with policymakers.

ASU-Newport – Dr. Sandra Massey, Chancellor

- In your packet, you will see a strategic plan which is sent out to the community partners that work with us in that process. And we are also very proud of our Year in Review.
- Enrollment growth is strong at ASU-Newport. We are most excited about our Full-time Equivalency (FTE) growth. We have strategically focused on this because we know that the quicker students start accumulating credit hours, the more likely they are to succeed and to move on into work or a four-year institution. Out of all the 22 colleges, ASU-Newport had the highest FTE growth among the colleges, and we moved from 8th place to 5th place. That’s a key performance indicator, so congratulations to my faculty and staff on that. The largest growth was in the prison education program and online education and technical programs.

- ASU-Newport, ASU-Beebe, and ASU-Mountain Home recently worked together to join a consortium to look at the new student information system ERP Software and because of this, we are uniting to implement Campus Nexus. It’s a unified system with many advantages. To ASU-Newport alone, we have an up-front savings of $650,000 to $750,000. That’s because we share the implementation costs. And secondly, we will have an annual savings cost of $65,000 to $85,000 because we will share the maintenance costs. We will look at efficiencies among the campuses and have a stronger focus on a united student success process.

- ASU-Newport received $650,000 plus in grants this past quarter. Two are focused on workforce development. And one is focused on ACT prep, which helps students to be better prepared, hopefully, and not have to take remediation courses.

- Two of our newest technical students, who are here today, are part of a pilot project called I M Woman, standing for Industrial Maintenance Woman. Sometimes people are unaware of the opportunities available in this field for women, so we reached out to entice them. Tameshia Warren and Laura Sertik received tuition and books to be a part of this pilot, but they are also going to give back to us. They will work with an internal female mentor and an industry partner female mentor and will also write a regular blog on the Web site, so you can track their progress. We want to attract more people to industrial management, especially more women. Tameshia and Laura are going to give you a very quick introduction to their stories. (Ms. Warren and Ms. Sertik related their learning experiences in the Industrial Maintenance Program and explained how this program is changing their lives for the better.)

  I’m sure you can see why they were selected for the pilot.

  Mr. Luter: How long will it take them to complete the program so that they will be eligible to be industrial maintenance supervisors?

  Dr. Massey: The first level is the technical certificate, but I was glad to hear that Tameshia is going to go into the associate degree program, and maybe transfer to ASU-Jonesboro for that bachelor’s degree.
Mr. Luter: What kind of income levels are they looking at?

Dr. Massey: Starting out, you’re going to be in the $35,000 to $45,000 range, but it’s really about how you perform on the job. There is a lot of opportunity for success in that field.

Ms. Warren: I have applied for two jobs. I’ve done a little bit of research and most jobs start off anywhere from $18.00 per hour as entry level and it can go as high as $25.00 per hour.

ASU-Jonesboro – Dr. Tim Hudson, Chancellor

- There is nothing quite like the energy at the beginning of the school year. I’m going to show you a video to try to give you some sense of that, but it’s absolutely an honor and a privilege to be a part of the start of the school year. Opening day on a college campus is outstanding. And I want to publicly acknowledge Jonesboro, the help of our community on the move-in days. We get tremendous participation from local churches, from nonprofit organizations, student organizations, even some of our football players were out there helping students move into the dorms. We really appreciate that participation, and it does yield a sense of community that we all benefit from.

- We have had a positive turn in our enrollment, growing overall by about two percent. Last year, we went down a little bit, and we took this very seriously and formed an Enrollment Management Task Force. We know more now about the mix of our enrollment and the variables we control than we have ever known in the history of this institution. This task force cut across all areas of the university. One of the more important aspects of our uptick in enrollment is that we did it without any downturn in quality. The quality control trends (like graduation rates and persistence rates), are going in the right direction. Remediation rates are going down, also in the right direction. So to grow while you’re able to sustain these quality points is a significant achievement, and it takes a lot of work on the part of everybody and I appreciate that work.

- Brad Phelps came to our opening faculty conference and he certainly set the tone so that people know that our legal counsels are here to help us do things the right way and to get the job done.

- I’m going to show you a video of some of the many things that have happened in and around our campus since we last met.

(VIDEO)
You heard in there the allusion to the renovation that’s going on in Wilson Hall, and this weekend it is going to be our privilege to host President Edward Guiliano from NYIT and his wife Mireille on their first visit to Arkansas State and their first visit to Arkansas. We’re getting ready for the next round of accreditation visits from the national accrediting body for the opening of the teaching site by NYIT on our campus. It’s really going to be transformative for all of us.

Mr. Slinkard: Dr. Hudson, how many students have applied but were denied because they didn’t meet the admission standards?

Dr. Hudson: This year alone, it’s over 750 students that would have been admitted three years ago on the basis of our standards. So over three years, it would be close to 2,000 students.

Dr. Langford: Congratulations on the increase in retention rates. I love hearing these stories about efficiency and collaboration among our colleges. State funding is not going up, and I think we have to be more efficient with our financial resources. Above that, it enhances students’ success. Are there any other collaborations or efficiency initiatives that you’re looking at?

Dr. Hudson: Well, today you are going to be asked to approve an academic realignment that took us a year to achieve through a campus-wide process to reduce the number of colleges from nine to six, and that frees up a lot of resources and allows us to redistribute that into the classroom. I think that’s the sort of innovation and sort of efficiency we need to achieve.

Dr. Welch: We are in the process of renovating Wilson Hall, which is the oldest and most historic building on the campus, which will ultimately be the home of NYIT medical school. And in the process of that renovation this week, they found some bricks that were from the original administration building, which I think was torn down in 1931. One of them had the word “Jonesboro” imprinted in the brick. That reminds us that we’ve got a lot of rich history.

ASU-Beebe – Dr. Eugene McKay, Chancellor

Every year we do a leadership program on the Beebe campus. Dr. Garrett is very instrumental in doing this, and she has a group here today of our current students, who are faculty, staff, and classified employees. They are the future leaders for ASU-Beebe.
• We had Congressman French Hill, as well as Senator Jane English and the Joint Education Committee, on the campus to see our John Deere Program. We have 72 students in the program this fall, and that makes us the second largest in the United States.

• I have an Arkansas Department of Higher Education (ADHE) report to share with you, and it’s dated March 26, 2015. ADHE defines the success of students according to whether they are still in college, whether they have graduated, and whether they transferred to a four-year program. They include both remedial students and non-remedial students. For the remedial students, ASU-Beebe had a score of 51.1, the second highest in the state. We would all love for our students to come to college ready to go into English I or the right math course. But we take them where we get them, and they succeed. That’s the point I’m trying to make. Fifty-one percent of the class succeeded. College is tough and you have to make a commitment to it. In the non-remedial category, ASU-Beebe came in Number One in both two- and four-year colleges in Central Arkansas with an 83.3 percent success rate.

Dr. Welch: Those statistics are proof of the exceptional service Dr. McKay has provided for the last 49½ years, but 21 as chancellor. We are going to really miss his institutional knowledge, and they don’t make them like that anymore, quite honestly. Dr. McKay has always been focused on student success. I think that is obvious and I congratulate him on that.

ASU-Mountain Home – Dr. Robin Myers, Chancellor

• I would like to introduce Ms. Laura Yarbrough, our new CFO. Welcome.

• The new computer system that the three colleges are working on is going to be a behemoth project. There will be between 20 and 60 of our employees meeting from the three campuses every day basically over the next month and a half. The consultants are coming in, so we’re refining and outlining this new campus management software to fit our operations. But it is a joint project. We are all working together so that your two-year system schools will have a compatible and consolidated system. I think it is going to be a great, great project. For our campus, we will have our own financial aid identity. Previously, we have filed financial aid under Jonesboro. We will activate the new software, and we will also go live with our own financial aid next July.

- I think you saw the National Emergency Welding Grant that we received this summer, which is a great project for us. We received notification this week of an additional grant of a similar size. We will train another 40 to 60 welders over the next few months with that grant. We also received notification of a DOL Grant, which for us will mean $400,000 for mechatronics training, which will essentially provide an associate’s degree for 90 students and will provide the tuition for 90 students over the next three years.

Mr. Luter: Are these federal grants?

Dr. Myers: This particular grant is a federal grant that is being passed through to the Arkansas Department of Workforce Services. So it’ll be administered by a state agency, but most of the money I would say is coming from the federal government.

Mr. Luter: I want to comment on the work these chancellors have done to maintain or increase enrollment at their particular university, when some other schools have not managed to do that, so congratulations.

Dr. Welch: The buzzword coming from policymakers and the governor’s office these days is “efficiency.” At the Beebe, Mountain Home, and Newport campuses, the current computer systems were actually about to become obsolete, and so they were going to have to get a new system. They ultimately came together and agreed on one system that all three can utilize, which resulted in us getting discounted system pricing, saving each one of our institutions money, and it’s much more seamless for them.

ASU Mid-South – Dr. Debra West, Chancellor

- I’m now in my sixth week on the job. Thank you for making me feel such a warm welcomed part of this System.
- Since your last meeting, we have received notification from the Higher Learning Commission (HLC) that the merger has been approved. As a result of this change in going from the independent community college to the Arkansas State University System, the college will be required to undergo a six-month focus visit, which will occur in early 2016. Essentially, they are coming to see that our mission hasn’t changed, that our focus hasn’t changed, and that the merger has had no effect on the HLC standards of accreditation as pertains to Mid-South. An additional change resulting from the merger is that they have put us on a different pathway for accreditation. HLC has three pathways for reaffirmation. One is the Pathway to Quality Improvement, another is the Standard Pathway, and the third is the Open Pathway. As a result of the merger, they have moved us from an Open Pathway to a Standard Pathway, which means another focused on-site visit in four years rather than the traditional four-year virtual visit and the 10-year on site visit. However, after they come visit us, we can petition to have that move reversed and put us back on that Open Pathway.

- We did receive notification in July that our student support services grant was again funded by the U.S. Department of Education in the amount of $281,490 per year for five years. That is a little over $1.4 million dollars for a five-year period. This allows us to provide services such as tutoring, advising, counseling, and mentoring to our most at-risk students, particularly those who are low-income, first-generation, and/or students with disabilities.

- Recently, the state Board of Higher Education instructed colleges to revamp their Associate of Arts in education degrees to better align with specific institutions of higher education. Mid-South completed that effort in June, and in July, we received notification that our Associate of Science degree in teaching has received approval. So we now have two pathways, two degrees, in that program, one in K-6 education and one in middle-level education with our primary transfer partner being ASU-Jonesboro. For where we are located in the Delta, it’s really hard to recruit quality teachers to teach in the Delta, and so that program is essential to being able to grow our own teachers. More than 60 of our graduates have gone on to complete the baccalaureate degree through ASU-Jonesboro and are now teaching in our local schools.

- We are all very proud that our welding program students have earned, for the third consecutive year, 100% pass rates on the American Welding Society Certification. Our students have passed 53 out of 53 exams three years in a row for 100% certifications.
• The Arkansas Department of Workforce Services is concluding their workforce partners meeting at ASU Mid-South today. The 256 participants represent various state agencies, the workforce investment board, as well as representatives from business and industry. It showcased our Job Center, a true, one-stop center on our campus, connecting services and benefits for training to individuals who are unemployed or underemployed.

• We have a big event coming up on October 3, our Running Dogs and Cooking Cats event. Building on the successes of our Greyhound 5K, we’re adding a catfish cooking competition, local food and craft vendors, live music, and some sports competitions. Through this event, our Foundation is hoping to raise more than $30,000 for scholarships to benefit our student athletes.

• An art exhibit, called Champion Trees of Arkansas, by an Arkansas artist, Linda Williams Palmer, will be on display in our Reynolds Center from October 9 through November 30. Ms. Palmer’s works have been selected for numerous juried exhibitions and collections across the United States and Europe. We are very fortunate to be able to partner with Delta Arts in West Memphis to bring this exhibit to our campus.

Mr. Luter: Are you partners with anybody for your aircraft maintenance program?

Dr. West: We are partnering with FedEx. And we are a little over a month away from completion of our new state-of-the-art facility for training in that program. As soon as the facility is on board and the FAA has approved it, we’ll have a kick-off event with officials from FedEx to help us get that program on the map. We are already enrolling students in the program and teaching in the program, but for now we’re in a different facility.

Mr. Rhodes: What is your biofuels program about?

Dr. West: We have a state-of-the-art biofuels facility, which was initially going to take used cooking oil and convert it to biofuels. But with the price of oil and gas going down, it’s not being used to produce biofuels, but we are gearing up to start our first process technology program in that facility. We have a unique partnership with a nonprofit out of Memphis called Memphis Bioworks and the Greater Memphis Alliance trying to connect business and industry to train workers. They are helping us identify people to bring into that program to train. So we actually have a curriculum that is going to be offering a very compressed format. The class will start around October 3, and it’s scheduled to be finished around the first week of February. Students will progress through safety training, training with instrumentation and controls, and all the things that they would need to know to become entry-level process operators ready for a chemical plant, biofuels facility, or oil and gas facility.

ASU System Resolutions:

- Resolution 15-32 approving a change to the Board of Trustees Bylaws
  Dr. Welch: The simple amendment is to add ASU Mid-South as one of our campuses.

- Resolution 15-33 approving ASU System to establish provisional positions for ASU Mid-South
  Dr. Welch: Provisional positions are funded in some manner other than state funding, typically from grants. They are only filled if that grant money is available. They have to be approved by both the legislature and this board. Mid-South didn’t come into this System until after the provisional positions for the other campuses had been approved, so we are asking that you approve 75, the maximum.

- Resolution 15-34 approving ASU System to revise the Distribution of Information Regarding Sex-Offenders Policy
  Dr. Welch: We do not believe we have any sex offenders living on our campuses; however, Brad Phelps, our general counsel, felt that it was important that we specifically state that in our policy in case the issue ever did arise.

- Resolution 15-35 approving ASU System to revise the Weapons Policy
  Dr. Welch: The existing weapons policy does not allow weapons on our campus at all, at any time, at any place. You reaffirmed that policy just in May, as you are required to do by state law. In the last session, there was a bill proposed, which became Act 1078. That act allows an individual who has a concealed handgun permit to have the handgun in their locked vehicle on a college campus. They cannot take it out of the vehicle. That is existing state law, so because of that, we need to revise our system policy. It doesn’t change anything else. They will not be able to have a weapon in a classroom or on the grounds.

- Resolution 15-35 approving ASU System to proceed with the Guaranteed Energy Cost Savings Capital Project and related financing for ASU-Jonesboro
Dr. Welch: We have received increased encouragement from policymakers to look for ways that we can retrofit our systems and our structures on campuses to save energy costs. We did an RFP and awarded that to Johnson Controls, which is a major international company. The cost will be $15.2 million, which would be accomplished through a capital lease program with guaranteed utility and operational savings generated by the energy improvements to cover the cost of the debt service. And that guarantee is made by Johnson Controls contractually. We have over 100,000 light fixtures on the ASU-Jonesboro campus that are no longer being manufactured. This resolution would replace every light fixture on the campus, basically, as well as doing some other things. The annual cost to us for that debt service would be recouped through utility and operational savings, and it is guaranteed by Johnson Controls.

Mr. Rhodes: Is the weapons policy specific to handguns?

Mr. Brad Phelps: The law that was passed was quite specific. You must have a license and the handgun has to remain in your locked and unattended vehicle. And it is limited to parking lots, actually.

Mr. Rhodes: In regard to energy efficiency and cost savings, what about our other System campuses? Do we have the same cost savings potential there?

Dr. Welch: Potentially. Is anybody that far along on looking at doing anything?

Dr. Massey: We have been looking at that, and we are slowly doing replacements.

Dr. Welch: On the Jonesboro campus we should have done this a number of years ago, but now that we have 100,000 fixtures, it’s become very difficult.

Upon a motion by Dr. Langford, seconded by Mr. Rhodes, Resolutions 15-32 through 15-36 were approved.

Ayes: Luter, Slinkard, Rhodes, Langford, Crowson

Nays: None

ASU-Jonesboro Resolutions:

- Resolution 15-37 approving ASU-Jonesboro to realign academic colleges

Dr. Welch: This is a request for approval to realign nine academic colleges resulting in six colleges, each under the leadership of one academic dean. I want to commend Dr. Hudson, Dr. Cooksey, and others. They worked for a long period of time with faculty and staff. This was not an easy process, but I believe we got as much value as you can expect for something of this nature. I believe that it goes directly to the governor’s desire and to your desire as a Board, for us to be more efficient and effective, and I think it’s a very good move for the campus.

- Resolution 15-38 approving ASU-Jonesboro to amend the Faculty Handbook

Dr. Welch: This is a simple resolution to amend the Faculty Handbook of Policies and Procedures. There are four changes that would be made, and these go through the shared governance process.

Mr. Slinkard: Will the realignment of colleges result in some efficiency and will it enhance academic success?

Dr. Hudson: I believe it will. It will allow different academic disciplines to be in closer contact with one another. We think it will create some synergies and some opportunities for new program development. It was a little difficult to get done and I appreciate the work of the faculty committees who worked on this as well.

Upon a motion by Mr. Crowson, seconded by Mr. Slinkard, Resolutions 15-37 and 15-38 were approved.

Ayes: Luter, Slinkard, Rhodes, Langford, Crowson

Nays: None

ASU Mid-South Resolutions:

- Resolution 15-39 naming the athletic and wellness facility

Dr. Welch: This is a resolution recognizing the significant contributions of Dr. Glen Fenter. Dr. Fenter did amazing things for that institution, and I am thankful to have his name on this facility. The athletics program at ASU Mid-South must be privately funded by state law as a two-year institution. In the last two years, ten out of ten of the men’s basketball players have received their degrees, and nine out of the ten have gone on to earn a scholarship at a four-year university to play basketball. We are very proud of that, and the Fenter Center, as it would be named.

- Resolution 15-40 naming the training facility
Dr. Welch: This is a naming resolution recognizing the significant contributions of the Thomas B. Goldsby family. They have made substantial contributions to the institution. As the largest individual private donors in the history of the institution, they have the Goldsby Scholars Program. Mr. Goldsby just recently passed away, but his widow and the family still are certainly very engaged and involved. This recommendation comes to you from the Board of Visitors of ASU Mid-South.

Upon a motion by Mr. Rhodes seconded by Dr. Langford, Resolutions 15-39 and 15-40 were approved.

ACTION ITEM: The Arkansas State University System requests approval to establish the maximum number of legislatively authorized positions for Arkansas State University Mid-South for the 2015-2016 fiscal year.

ISSUE: The Board of Trustees must approve the establishment of provisional positions.

BACKGROUND:

- As the university continues to receive monies from grants, contracts, and other non-appropriated sources, the campuses have found it necessary to expedite the process of approval for provisional positions. Since board approval is requested to establish provisional positions and the board only meets regularly four times a year, the board may approve the establishment of all provisional positions on all campuses of Arkansas State University and allow the university to seek the establishment of the positions from the Department of Higher Education, the Office of Personnel Management, and the Legislative Council as needed.

- The board approved this request in May for the ASU campuses for FY2015-16. ASU Mid-South officially joined the ASU System on July 1, 2015. Therefore, approval is requested to establish provisional positions for ASU Mid-South, so that it can respond immediately to provisional position requests.

RECOMMENDATION/RESOLUTION:

Be it resolved that the Arkansas State University System is approved to establish 75 provisional positions for ASU Mid-South, as authorized for the 2015-2016 fiscal year.

ACTION ITEM: Arkansas State University-Jonesboro (ASUJ) requests approval to realign nine academic colleges, resulting in six colleges, each under the leadership of one academic dean.

ISSUE: The Board of Trustees must approve changes in organization of academic units.

BACKGROUND:

- ASUJ constituencies have been charged with recommending the realignment of the nine academic colleges, with the goal of contributing to the long-term financial health of the university, better meeting the changing academic and career needs of its students, and creating ways to enhance academic quality through collaboration.

- Two task forces came to a consensus, recommending an academic college restructuring, which was proposed and vetted through the shared governance process. Each unit will be represented by one dean. These units are the following:
  1. College of Agriculture and Technology and College of Engineering
  2. College of Business
  3. College of Education and Behavioral Sciences
  4. College of Fine Arts, College of Humanities and Social Sciences, and College of Media and Communication
  5. College of Nursing and Health Professions
  6. College of Sciences and Mathematics

- The new college units will begin this transition during the 2015-2016 academic year with college nomenclature determined by and restructured at the department and/or program level, as appropriate, to be completed by June 30, 2016.

- In early 2016, board approval will be requested for additional restructuring of departments and/or academic programs and final naming of combined colleges.

ACTION ITEM: Arkansas State University-Jonesboro (ASUJ) requests approval to amend the Faculty Handbook of Policies and Procedures.

ISSUE: The Board of Trustees must approve all revisions to handbooks.

BACKGROUND:

- The Faculty Handbook Committee for ASUJ has reviewed the Faculty Handbook of Policies and Procedures and has proposed three changes to that document.

- The first change relates to the current membership and purpose of the Education and Technology Committee. This committee is one of the 17 Academic Shared Governance committees on the ASUJ campus. These committees “are the vehicle by which the faculty influences decisions and courses of action in areas of faculty responsibility by being informed of, expressing views on, and making recommendations about academic issues affecting the institution.” The Director of the Center for Learning Technology serves as an official voting member of the Education and Technology Committee, while the Dean of Continuing Education and Community Outreach serves as an ex-officio, nonvoting member of the Education and Technology Committee. The proposed changes provide that the Director of the ITTC Faculty Center will replace the Director of the Center for Learning Technology on the committee. Additionally, the Chief Information Officer will replace the Dean of Continuing Education and Community Outreach on the committee.

- The second change relates to the purpose of the Education and Technology Committee. The revised purpose statement removes “implementation of courses and/or degrees at distant sites” as a committee purpose. The new committee purpose will be changed to address “learning via face-to-face, compressed video, and online, including learning within 3D virtual environments.”

- The final change makes modifications to the section of the Faculty Handbook addressing teaching load. These changes set forth the factors to be considered when establishing classroom enrollment caps, as well as the process by which those enrollment caps are established.
EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

- The proposed changes have been approved through the shared governance process.
- A copy of the proposed changes is attached to this resolution.

RECOMMENDATION/RESOLUTION:

Be it resolved that Arkansas State University-Jonesboro is approved to amend the Faculty Handbook of Policies and Procedures as reflected in the attached revisions, effective immediately.

III.b.1. Teaching Load:

Current Language:

Teaching load of the faculty is normally twelve hours per semester. Faculty work load also includes research, creative activity, and service. When financial or other circumstances allow, a reassignment of teaching load may be approved by the chair of the department, program director, and/or dean of the college. A primary purpose of such reassignment is to support research and creative activities, but reassignment also may be granted to allow extra time for graduate teaching; department, college, and university committee service; supervision of theses, independent study, and practicum/internships; team teaching; new technology assisted course development; student advisement; program director/coordinator assignments; and other professional duties. To meet specific professional accreditation requirements, a program, department, or college may be authorized to develop exceptions to the normal teaching-load policy. Tenured faculty may also elect, in negotiation with their program director, department chair or dean, to teach additional courses in lieu of research, creative activity, or service.

Faculty and chairs who are appointed for twelve months generally are expected to teach during both summer terms or to perform other duties related to their assignments. Teaching load for chairs is normally six credit hours each regular semester and three credit hours each summer term. In some cases, responsibilities may be adjusted to provide the opportunity for taking accumulated leave during the summer months.

Teaching load for deans is normally three credit hours per academic year, but may vary according to other duties of the deanship.

Issues and contexts such as accreditation, discipline-specific demands of the course content, the amount of student/instructor interaction, graduate or undergraduate course level, laboratory and field/clinical settings, and instructional environments and platforms (face-to-face or online) are among the variables that should be considered when setting enrollment caps on classes. The maximum number of students assigned to course sections is to be determined by the department chair or director in consultation with the faculty and the college dean.
